

MEMORANDUM

TO: Faculty Colleagues

FROM: Gerald E. Lang
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research

DATE: November 2, 2007

RE: Heebink Awards for 2008

Attached is this year's announcement for the Ethel and Gerry Heebink Awards for Distinguished State Service.

The original Heebink Award continues to be a means of recognizing a faculty or staff member who has provided distinguished service to West Virginia over an extended period of time. This award provides an honorarium of $3,000.

In 1992, Dr. David Heebink created a second Heebink Award for those faculty and staff who have provided significant service to West Virginia for a less extended time period. This more recent award provides an honorarium of $2,000. Please note that, as previously announced, this award is made in alternate years. Nominations for this award are solicited during alternate years, and are not appropriate for the present 2007-2008 cycle.

Nominations for the Heebink award for distinguished service over an extended period of time will be accepted until Wednesday, January 31, 2008. You may access this memo and the attachment at our website address <http://www.wvu.edu/~acadaff/Faculty/oppor/Heebink08.pdf>.

I encourage you to take advantage of this opportunity to recognize and reward those giving exceptional service to the state, and to bring it to the attention of appropriate individuals as you see fit. If you need additional information, please contact Dr. C. B. Wilson, Associate Provost for Academic Personnel 293-2021, in the Office of the Provost.

THE ETHEL AND GERRY HEEBINK AWARDS FOR DISTINGUISHED STATE SERVICE
2008

ABOUT THE AWARD

Gerry Heebink was an Extension dairyman for the WVU Agricultural Extension Service from 1935 until his death in 1956. Ethel Heebink taught English at WVU for several years after World War II. In 1982, their son David created a memorial fund to reward exemplary service to the State of West Virginia by faculty and staff of the University. This award continues to be a means of recognizing a faculty or staff member who has provided distinguished service to West Virginia over an extended time period. This award provides an honorarium of $3,000.

In 1992, David Heebink created another award for those faculty and staff who have provided significant service to West Virginia for a less extended time period. The service records of these persons should be characterized by significant impact and the promise of additional significant service contributions. This award provides an honorarium of $2,000. Nominations for this award are solicited during alternate years, and are not appropriate for the present 2007-2008 cycle.

ELIGIBILITY

Current full-time employees of WVU are eligible. Nominees for an extended service award will normally have a record of at least eight years in length; the beginning service award would be appropriate for records of shorter duration.

A recipient of either Heebink award may be eligible for consideration again in the seventh year after the receipt of the first.

CRITERIA

The criteria for both awards are described collectively below. With the exception of the number of years during which service to the State may have been provided, the criteria for both awards are identical.

Criteria for Award Recognizing an Extended Service Record or a Beginning Service Record

1. Educational and public service activity, which extends beyond a traditional classroom setting.

2. Evidence of exceptional, sustained service from the University to the State, for the time period described above.
3. Special benefit to a broad segment of the population of the State of West Virginia.
4. Work that is well regarded by WVU peers and non-WVU community.
5. Effective use of WVU physical and human resources.
6. Evidence of a commitment by the employee to remain at the University.

DEFINITION OF SERVICE

Distinguished state service may be defined as activities in which the nominee uses the unique resources of the University and the expertise of its faculty, faculty-equivalent personnel, and staff to create alternative learning environments or experiences in settings other than the traditional classrooms and research laboratories for individuals, the general public, local and state governments, or special interest groups. Examples of alternative learning experience provided by the University in response to public needs and/or problems in the state include, but are not limited to, extension and continuing education workshops, short courses, off-campus non-credit education, individual and departmental consultancies, radio and TV programming, community/public programming, and publications for the general public or client group.

Although nominees may have also provided significant service to the region and nation, in reviewing nominations the Selection Committee places primary emphasis on service to West Virginia.

NOMINATION PROCEDURE

The same nomination procedure is used for both awards.

The Selection Committee requires that each nomination be endorsed by three to six individuals on the enclosed Nominators' Form. Each nomination should be accompanied by the following:

1. Nomination form (attached).
2. Nominators' form (attached).
3. A statement of a maximum of four non-reduced, double-spaced pages from the nominee or a nominator which:
 - a. Summarizes the nominee's service activities benefiting the State and explicitly describes how those activities meet the criteria for the award.

It is suggested that each of the six criteria listed above be dealt with specifically in this summary.

- b. Indicates explicitly whether the nominee is a candidate for the award for a record of extended service or a record of beginning service. This should be confirmed on the Nomination Form.
 - c. Describes the specific activities, which serve as the basis for the nomination.
 - d. Describes the ways in which those activities go beyond the nominee's performance of a routine job assignment.
4. Letters of recommendation from three to five individuals of no more than two non-reduced single-spaced pages in length. The letters should specifically address the criteria for the award. Recommendation forms, which may be used for this purpose, are attached. The letters may be, but need not be, written by the same persons who nominate the individual. Letters should be addressed to or gathered by the first person listed on the nominators' form.
 5. A current curriculum vita for the nominee of no more than four non-reduced pages in length. The vita should emphasize the ways in which the nominee has provided service to the State.
 6. A description of the nominee's current responsibilities at WVU.

Each of these six items must be included in order for a nomination to be considered by the Selection Committee.

Nominators are requested to submit unstapled nomination dossiers in file folders, and not to use notebooks, binders, or plastic page covers. One photocopy of the dossier should be submitted along with the original.

Nominees should be advised by the first person listed on the nominators' form that they are being nominated for this award. In most instances, the nomination dossier can be strengthened through the participation of the nominee in its development.

If additional information about the nomination is needed, the first person listed on the nominators' form will be contacted by the support person who staffs the Selection Committee.

DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF ALL NOMINATION MATERIALS

Send the completed nomination materials to Heebink Selection Committee, West Virginia University, Office of Academic Affairs and Research, 210 Stewart Hall, P.O. Box 6203, Morgantown, WV 26506-6203, materials must be received by Thursday, January 31, 2008. If additional information is needed, please call 293-2021.
