RE: 76th Annual State 4-H/FFA Livestock Roundup
September 13-17, 2006

Please find enclosed a combined mailing from Phil Osborne and Jean Woloshuk with details of the 2006 State 4-H/FFA Livestock Roundup scheduled for September 13-17, at WVU Jackson's Mill. Please share with co-workers who may be working this event. To help make the event go more smoothly, please review the enclosed items and follow through as needed. Note: Please be aware and notify FFA members that signatures from FFA teachers are required on consignment and participant registration forms.

Agents are responsible for collection and distribution of consignment forms, tags, etc. to consignors. Consignments must be returned to the county office and then forwarded to Phil Osborne, postmarked by August 1. Consignments are not to be mailed by consignors, they are to come as a county group so that scale tickets, ear tags and barn assignments can be returned. NO consignments will be accepted after August 1. It is critical that counties work with consignors to adhere to the deadline of August 1. Any follow-up correspondence will be sent to the county office and must be distributed to the consignor.

Premise ID: A Premise ID must be included on the consignment entry form. Consignors can obtain a Premise ID from the WVDA (304-558-2214) or check the WVDA website at www.wvagriculture.org .

I. Continuation of the National Code of Show Ring Ethics Policy

The State Livestock Roundup, Inc. adopted the IAFE (International Association of Fairs and Expositions) National Code of Show Ring Ethics and its accompanying "Exhibitor Entry Statement" in 2002. Information is enclosed and the Exhibitors Entry Statement is included on the Official Entry Form. By signing the "Exhibitor Entry Statement", exhibitors (both youth, parents and/or guardians, and adults,) have agreed to abide by the rules as stated in the IAFE National Code of Show Ring Ethics and the Rules and Regulations for the State Livestock Roundup. All exhibitors must comply with both. The intent of this program is to reflect to the public and/or consumer the highest standards of honor and dignity of the 4-H, FFA and adult programs in WV and to promote the advancement of agricultural education.

II. Schedule & Consignments: Please find enclosed a copy of the rules and regulations for the WV Livestock Roundup Show and Sale. Please check schedule for weigh-in times. All calves will be processed on Thursday, September 14 from 8:00 a.m.-12 Noon. All cattle must be delivered by 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, September 14. Please inform your consignors they can check into barns at 12 Noon on Wednesday. NO ONE WILL BE ADMITTED IN BARNs BEFORE NOON! All health papers must be in hand so that the West Virginia State Department of Agriculture can examine before entry. WVU Jackson's Mill staff will unlock the barns at 12 Noon on Wednesday, September 13, 2006 for cattle delivery.

A shavings and bark mixture will be used for bedding if chips are not available. Consignors are responsible to bring their own feed. It might be helpful to get calves started on chlorinated water. Many of the calves resist water the first days at WVU Jackson's Mill.

*Consignments must be accompanied by a non-refundable $10.00/head consignment fee. In addition, there will be a $5.00 chute fee payable with the consignment fee; if not paid at the time of consignment, the fee will be $10.00. All exhibitors can pick up tag for chutes in the barn office upon check-in at the barn. Chute fees are non-refundable.

Please note if calves are consigned under FFA consignment forms must be signed by the FFA instructor. All consignment forms and fees should be sent to Phil Osborne postmarked by August 1, 2006. Consignments must be in before ear tags and scale tickets can be mailed. Late consignments will be refused! Consignments will be compiled and consignors will be allocated in numerical order around the barns. Counties locations are not guaranteed and are subject to relocation based on assignment. All steers and then heifers are to be numbered in sequence within the same family. Try and accommodate your producers according to numerical location. This facilitates locating the calves for the buyers and during the week for messages.

Scale Ticket Information data should be e-mailed to Phil Osborne by September 1, 2006. A template will be sent to each county consigning calves.

Please inform all exhibitors that no exhibitors or individuals assisting exhibitors shall be permitted to use products contained or dispensed from aerosol cans on animals in the staging area.

Quality Assurance Guidelines for County Fairs and 4-H Projects

Phil Osborne, Livestock Specialist

WVU Extension Service

Edited for Roundup

April 2005

It can be a real challenge to design a health protocol for producers and 4-H'ers exhibiting and marketing livestock at county fairs and festivals. The emphasis on food safety and biosecurity as related to herd health and consumer safety requires scrutiny of the guidelines by fair boards and/or livestock committees.

At least minimal herd health protocols should be followed for animals that are to be exhibited and returned to the farm. Risk management assessments should be practiced when animals are assembled from different farms within or out of the state. Biosecurity risk is related not only to contact with animals but also by other exhibitors or spectators touring the barns or attending the shows.

Designing an animal health program for brood cows and yearlings poses fewer challenges than for animals under a year of age. Most older classes of animals would or should have received booster vaccines earlier in the spring, which should provide adequate protection during the fair season. Developing and administering a health program for feeder calves is more challenging since the animals are younger and the window of opportunity is smaller to get them properly immunized.

The animal health program used for the feeder calves being marketed through the West Virginia Quality Assurance Sales and the West Virginia State Livestock Roundup is one of the most extensive and complete programs. Select a pharmaceutical company and design health programs with their product line rather than mix and match products from various companies. In the event that technical services are needed, help is readily available if products originated from a single company. Administration of a health program to show cattle can be a real challenge since the timing rarely corresponds with the primary cow herd. Most fairs and festivals are two months ahead of the special graded sales or West Virginia Quality Assurance Sales. Special precautions must be taken if market steers and/or feeder calves are being sold and harvested directly from the fair. The key date is the sale day, meaning that all vaccines, feed additives, dewormers, or antibiotics administered to the animals must meet the required withdrawal times on the day of or prior to the sale.

Always follow the label!!! Not all products are created equal; some have 60-day withdrawal periods, and others have 30 days. Some feeds contain antibiotics. Caution must be taken to follow the labeled withdrawal times on feed. If you have a question about withdrawals, consult with the veterinarian or check the West Virginia Beef Quality Assurance Handbook's compendium of veterinary products.

If your project animal gets sick during the fair and has to be treated, you may have to hold the animal through the withdrawal times before harvesting to avoid drug residue problems. Some antibiotic can be administered that do not have a withdrawal time. The label protocol must be followed, not just because of the threat of fines from USDA or FDA but to avoid the potential risk of an allergic reaction by the consumer. Your goal is to provide a quality product and excellent eating experience for the buyer of your livestock project.

Biosecurity at a fair is difficult to control so producers must be responsible for taking measures to protect their investment. A good animal health program should be developed with the consultation of a large-animal veterinarian. Immunizations against respiratory viruses such as IBR, PI3, BVD, BRSV, and bacterial agents such as Clostridials and Pasturellas will serve as the best available protection if animals are exposed at the fair. All animals returning to the farm should be held in isolation 21 to 30 days before being exposed to the resident herd or flock. If you are exhibiting expensive breeding animals, perhaps you should consider getting an insurance policy from American Live Stock. The company provides special policies for 4-H project animals.

Figure 1. An example of establishing dates for vaccinating feeder calves if the Roundup date is Sept. 14. The initial round of prevaccinations must be administered on or before July 15. The calf will still be suckling the cow so a killed viral product (IBR, PI3, BVD) should be used. A modified live product can be used only if the cows were vaccinated earlier in the spring with a modified live product. The booster should be given 14 to 21 days later or on Aug. 5-15. If the animals are to be harvested for consumption directly from the fair, withdrawal times for vaccine, feed additives, and dewormers must be noted and labels followed.

Extension soon will launch a meat animal quality assurance program that will encompass best management practices for beef, swine, sheep, and goat projects.

IAFE (International Association of Fairs and Expositions) National Code of Show Ring Ethics

Exhibitors of animals at livestock shows shall at all times deport themselves with honesty and good sportsmanship. Their conduct in the competitive environment shall always reflect the highest standards of honor and dignity to promote the advancement of agricultural education. This code applies to junior as well as open class exhibitors who compete in structured classes of competition. This code applies to livestock to junior as well as open class exhibitors who compete in structured classes of competition. This code applies to livestock offered in any event at a livestock show. In addition to the IAFE National Code of Show Ring Ethics, fairs and livestock shows may have rules and regulations which they impose on the local, county, state, provincial and national levels.

All youth leaders working with junior exhibitors are under an affirmative responsibility to do more than avoid improper conduct or questionable acts. Their moral values must be so certain and positive that those younger and more pliable will be influenced by their fine example. Owners, exhibitors, fitters, trainers and absolutely responsible persons who violate the code of ethics will forfeit premiums, awards and auction proceeds and shall be prohibited from future exhibition in accordance with the rules adopted by the respective fairs and livestock shows. Exhibitors who violate this code of ethics demean the integrity of all livestock exhibitors and should be prohibited from competition at all livestock shows in the United States and Canada.

The following is a list of guidelines for all exhibitors and all livestock in competitive events:

1. All exhibitors must present, upon request of fair and livestock show officials, proof of ownership, length of ownership and age of all animals entered. Misrepresentation of ownership, age, or any facts relating thereto is prohibited.
2. Owners, exhibitors, fitters, trainers, or absolutely responsible persons shall provide animal health certificates from licensed veterinarians upon request by fair or livestock show officials.
3. Junior exhibitors are expected to care for and groom their animals while at fairs or livestock shows.
4. Animals shall be presented to show events where they will enter the food chain free of drugs. The act of entering an animal in a livestock show is the giving the consent by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer and/or absolutely responsible person for show management to obtain any specimens of urine, saliva, blood, or other substances from the animal to be used in testing. Animals not entered in an event which culminates with the animal entering the food chain shall not be administered drugs other than in accordance with applicable federal, state, and provincial statutes, regulations and rules. Livestock shall not be exhibited if the drugs administered in accordance with federal, state and provincial statutes, regulations and rules affect the animal performance or appearance at the event.

If the laboratory report on the chemical analysis of saliva, urine, blood, or other sample taken from livestock indicates the presence of forbidden drugs or medication, this shall be prima facie evidence such substance has been administered to the animal either internally or externally. It is presumed that the sample of urine, saliva, blood or other substance tested by the approved laboratory to which it is sent is the one taken from the animal in question, its integrity is preserved and all procedures of said collection and preservation, transfer to the laboratory and analysis of the sample are correct and accurate and the report received from the laboratory pertains to the sample taken from the animal in question and correctly reflects the condition of the animal at the time the sample was taken, with the burden on the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person to prove otherwise at any hearing in regard to the matter conducted by the fair or livestock show.

At any time after an animal arrives on the fair or livestock show premises, all treatments involving the use of drugs and/or medications shall be administered by a licensed veterinarian.

5. Any surgical procedure or injection of any foreign substance or drug or the external application of any substance (irritant, counterirritant, or similar substance) which could affect the animals performance or alter its natural contour, confirmation, or appearance, except external applications of substances to the hoofs or horns of animal which affect appearance only and except for surgical procedures performed by a duly licensed veterinarian for the sole purpose of protecting the health of the animal, is prohibited.
6. The use of showing and/or handling practices or devices such as striking animals to cause swelling, using electrical contrivance, or other similar practices are not acceptable and are prohibited.
7. Direct criticism or interference with the judge, fair or livestock show management, other exhibitors, breed representatives, or show officials before, during, or after the competitive event is prohibited. In the furtherance of their duty, all judges, fair and livestock show management, or other show officials shall be treated with courtesy, cooperation, and respect and no person shall direct abusive or threatening conduct toward them.
8. No owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person shall conspire with another person or persons to intentionally violate this code of ethics or knowingly contribute or cooperate with another person or persons either by affirmative action or inaction to violate this code of ethics. Violation of this rule shall subject such individual to disciplinary action.
9. The application of this code of ethics provides for absolute responsibility for an animals condition by an owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or participant whether or not he or she was actually instrumental in or had actual knowledge of the treatment of the animal in contravention of this code of ethics.
10. The act of entering an animal is the giving of consent by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person to have any disciplinary action taken by the fair or livestock show against such individuals published in any publication of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, including Fairs and Expositions and any special notices to members.
11. The act of entering of an animal in a fair or livestock show is the giving of verification by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person that he or she has read the IAFE National Code of Show Ring Ethics and understands the consequences of and penalties provided for actions prohibited by the code. It is further a consent that any action which contravenes these rules and is also in violation of federal, state, or provincial statues, regulations, or rules may be released to appropriate law enforcement authorities with jurisdiction over such infractions.
